An Alexandria man who worked for the Central Intelligence Agency was killed Thursday night in a West Virginia traffic accident that took two other lives, police reported.

State Trooper J. A. Harsh identified him as Roger Lee Martin, 21, listed at 1116 Abingdon dr. Two cousins, John, 16, and James Martin, 18, also died in the crash that occurred in the Danese area where they live, authorities said.

Two other cousins were injured when the car, driven by Roger Martin, missed a curve and careened 500 feet down a mountainside, police said. Harsh said the youths were "out trick-or-treating."
